NES Financial and Leading EB-5 Companies Announce Groundbreaking EB-5 Redeployment Marketplace

Innovative Solution Addresses the Complexity and Assurance of Redeploying EB-5 Investment Capital in High-Quality Investment Opportunities

San Jose, CA, October 24, 2018 – NES Financial announced today that it has entered into an agreement with Capital United and Greystone to launch a first-of-its-kind EB-5 Redeployment Marketplace designed to facilitate transactions between NCEs seeking to redeploy EB-5 investment capital and those offering risk-appropriate investment options.

As wait times for Chinese-born EB-5 investors surpass the average length of EB-5 development projects, the need for NCEs to “redeploy” EB-5 investment capital into secondary projects (to maintain the required “at risk” status of the funds) has become a challenging industry reality.

The EB-5 Redeployment Marketplace is a one-stop-shop solution connecting qualified NCE investors with high-quality investment opportunities, designed to satisfy USCIS requirements for redeploying EB-5 investment capital.

Comprehensive by design, the EB-5 Redeployment Marketplace covers the critically important areas of underwriting approval and due diligence of investment opportunities, as well as independent third-party investment advisory and fund administration oversight. All of which makes it easier to quickly and safely redeploy EB-5 investment capital.

“The EB-5 Redeployment Marketplace is a logical extension of the end-to-end Redeployment Solution which we introduced last year,” said Brad Stedem, President of Capital United. “The strength and simplicity of the Marketplace, including CapUnited’s advisement capabilities, will provide even more smart redeployment options to ever-greater numbers of NCEs.”

Reid Thomas, Executive Vice President & General Manager at NES Financial, agreed that the need for this solution is huge and growing. “An estimated $17 billion in EB-5 capital will require redeployment over the next four years, according to our data,” he said. “Powered by NES Financial’s award-winning EB-5 administration solutions, the Marketplace will deliver the highest levels of security, transparency and compliance to all stakeholders throughout the redeployment investment life cycle.”

“The quality of the Marketplace investment opportunities is key,” said Allison Berman, Managing Director and General Counsel of Greystone EB-5. “Leveraging Greystone’s decades of underwriting expertise will ensure the opportunities available through the Marketplace will be high-quality investments geared to the needs of the investors and requirements of the program.”

NES Financial will showcase the EB-5 Redeployment Marketplace at the upcoming AILA & IIUSA EB-5 Industry Forum, to be held October 29–30 in Chicago, IL. For additional information, please visit booth 20 or contact an NES Financial representative at 1-800-339-1031.
